Descripción:

Curso teórico- práctico de nivel avanzado que promueve la comprensión de la importancia que requiere la inclusión de la cultura en la enseñanza de una lengua extranjera, para la adquisición de competencia socio- lingüística. El trabajo central del estudiante se realizará a través de presentaciones y discusiones de los temas leídos y analizados. La labor práctica del curso consistirá en el análisis socio- cultural de material, así como la investigación de aspectos culturales extranjeros (relacionados con la lengua en estudio) y la creación de material para utilizar en la clase de esa lengua.

Los estudiantes desarrollaran una crítica hacia la forma en que el Ministerio de Educación Pública integra la Cultura en sus programas de Inglés Además, finalizando el semestre y luego de haber reflexionado acerca de distintos enfoques y estrategias para integrar la cultura en el aula, los estudiantes prepararán y desarrollarán en el aula el plan de una lección. Por último, los estudiantes realizarán un trabajo de investigación (Research Paper) donde logren aplicar la teoría estudiada en clase en diferentes contextos educativos o sociales de la realidad costarricense.

La lectura es una actividad relevante en el desarrollo del curso, todos los textos asignados por la profesora deben ser leídos y analizados con el fin de cubrir los contenidos del curso. Además, cada uno de los proyectos, planeamientos, exposiciones y análisis escritos, deben evidenciar la realización de estas lecturas. El no cumplir con este aspecto podría repercutir en el aprendizaje adecuado de los contenidos y el desarrollo de lecciones enriquecedoras.

Ask the class to name as many cultural groups as they can. As the students call them out, write them up on the board.

When you have 15–20 names of cultural groups, divide the class into groups of three or four. Explain that each group is to work together to draw up a list of characteristics that make each of the cultural groups different from all the others. Allow ten minutes for the groups to make up their lists. Here is a sample of the kind of list they might produce:

4 Ask a volunteer from each group to read out their list, while you write up the characteristics.

5 When the students have reached the end of their lists, ask them which characteristics apply to all of the cultural groups they mentioned. For example, can all the groups be identified by different languages or by different religions? The students will realize that very few, if any, of the characteristics apply to all the groups.

6 Conduct a whole-class discussion on the basis of the following questions:

grups do you identify:
– How do you feel about the terms 'culture' and 'cultural group'? If you like the term, why? If not, why not?
– What other term would you prefer (national group, ethnic group, or no term at all)? Why?
etc.

VARIATION 2

Another variation, instead of working through Step 3 above, is to ask the students to brainstorm and draw up a list of cultural images and symbols they associate with three or four of the cultural groups identified in Step 2. For example, a list of symbols relating to US culture might include: baseball, the Statue of Liberty, the American flag, hot dogs, Elvis Presley, cowboys, the White House, etc.
