I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed to provide practicing teachers the knowledge and skills to analyze several first and second language acquisition theories and their implications in English teaching in a Costa Rican context. Students will also enrich and relate these theories to evaluate resources to successfully carry out the teaching task in an EFL environment. The main issues to be discussed in the course are: comparison of first and second language acquisition theories, language organization and the brain, utilization of problem-solving strategies in first and second language acquisition, second language acquisition and classroom procedures.

II. GENERAL OBJECTIVES:

1. To stimulate critical thinking of individuals with regard to different theories of second language learning that exist in the educational setting.
2. To promote coherent and systematic methods and techniques of learning a second language based on a sociocultural reality in an educational setting.
3. To foster the creativity of individuals through the study of theories of acquisition and second language learning and applying these theories to the reality in the medium in which they operate.
4. To promote research of acquisition and second language learning through the use of technological tools.

III. SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES

1. To analyze theoretical reading material related to different theories of learning and acquiring a second language.
2. To assess the appropriateness of applying different theories of acquisition and second language learning to the educational environment today.
3. To analyze the consistency of methods and techniques used in the educational theory of learning and acquiring a second language.
4. To identify different environments, methods, techniques and other factors that negatively and positively influence the process of acquisition and second language learning, from theoretical and practical perspective.
5. To apply theoretical knowledge to analyze the process of teaching and learning in specific educational realities of the environment in which teachers operate.
6. To apply the theoretical models of acquisition and second language learning in an existing educational environment.
7. To discuss the results of the application of theory studied in class.
8. To identify different sources of information and tools for the investigation of theory of acquisition and second language learning.
9. To identify different theories related to the field of psycholinguistics and the possible implications of such teaching.
10. To analyze the pedagogical implications of social and affective variables involved in the process of teaching and learning a foreign language.

l) Instructed second language learning
m) Beyond the domain of language
n) An integrated view of second language acquisition

IV. METHODOLOGY:

At the beginning of each session, students will meet in groups to work on their literature review (15 min). Meanwhile, the assigned student(s) for the day will set up equipment to make a presentation of the chapter (20 min). Then, students in groups will carry out task designed by the presenters (10 min). A short general class discussion led by the presenters will take place (5 minutes). A “point for discussion” task from Gass and Selinker (2008) selected by the instructor will be assigned to groups (10 min). A randomly selected group will present task results (5 min) followed by a “Questions & Answers” session (5 min). Depending on time constraints, mini-lessons for resource presentations will take place. In other words, classes will be student-centered. The professor will discuss theory, provide explanations and serve as a model on each topic through the analysis and discussion of readings prepared in advance by the students. Active participation, both in practice and in peer feedback, will be an essential part of the course, which will include the learner’s own personal experiences as an important element to classroom learning. Students will be investigating and selecting resources based on their beliefs and understandings as well as the reality of the context and what is known about their students and the principles of language acquisition.

V. EVALUATION:

Chapter Presentation (in groups)	15%
Mini Tasks (Points for discussion)*	15%
Three partial tests (C.1-4, 13 15%, 5-9 15% y C.10-14 20%)	50%
Literature Review (in trios)	15%
Technological Resource Demonstration (in pairs)	5%

(Note: Rubrics will be provided for each task. Grammar, vocabulary and mechanics (when applicable) will represent at least 20% of the grade)

Chapter Presentation: selected students will be responsible for summarizing a chapter or two, designing a PPP and making a presentation of the most important aspects in the chapter(s).

*For the Mini-Tasks, the students making presentations of assigned chapters need to give a summary of the chapter to each student, select a point for discussion, develop activities for the point and lead a class discussion. The rest of the class is expected to participate in the activities and turn in answers. Mini Task grade will be earned individually in each class.

Partial exams will include practical and theoretical issues taken from the book. Students are expected to address the questions in the exams supporting their answers with the theory presented and discussed in class.

*LITERATURE REVIEW 45 pts:

Steps to be followed to complete your Literature Review: (Bring one source per person on a weekly basis as per timetable)

1. Brainstorm ideas on the main topic
2. Delimit topic 1 pt
3. Write Research question 1 pt
4. Write Thesis statement 2 pt
5. Present Research Proposal 5 pts
6. Turn in and possibly present types of publication used (scope) 1 ptpr / 6 pts total
7. Write critical analysis of articles chosen supporting position 10 pts
8. Write critical analysis of articles contrary to position selected 10 pts
9. Turn in literature review (Introduction, Objectives, Literature Review, Methodology) 10 pts

Technological Resource Presentation: assigned groups are expected to prepare a mini lesson to demonstrate how to use technology to teach vocabulary in a Costa Rican context as per timetable.

INFORMACION ADICIONAL

No habrá exámenes o trabajos de reposición sin una justificación válida (como por ejemplo: enfermedad -con dictámen médico- o muerte de un familiar). Se debe presentar la documentación pertinente en un lapso de 8 días después de la ausencia como estipula el Reglamento de Régimen Académico Estudiantil.

Todos los trabajos escritos deberán presentarse de forma impresa siguiendo con los lineamientos indicados previamente por el o la docente. Sin excepción toda asignación debe entregarse en la fecha indicada.

Si se detectaran muestras de plagio, aunque se dieran por desconocimiento, el trabajo tendrá una nota de 0, y el alumno enfrentará las sanciones de la Universidad de Costa Rica. Se entiende por plagio, la presentación de ideas de alguna otra persona como propias (en forma total o parcial), la omisión de citar las fuentes de las ideas no propias (aunque sean parafraseadas), y demás conductas que manifiesten deshonestidad intelectual.

Por favor noten que las normas universitarias clara y enfáticamente estipulan que los teléfonos celulares deben de ser apagados durante el tiempo lectivo. Según oficio ELM-CENV-984-2004, en relación con la Circular No.31-2000 suscrita por el entonces Vicerrector de Docencia, el hacer uso del celular en forma permanente en el tiempo destinado al desarrollo de las lecciones, NO es adecuado porque constituye un distractor en el proceso enseñanza – aprendizaje; en consecuencia, es PROHIBIDO que los (as) profesores (as) y los (as) estudiantes hagan uso del mismo en el aula durante el desarrollo de actividades académicas, excepto en situaciones de emergencia o de excepción, condicionado.

Se hará un examen de ampliación para aquellos estudiantes cuya nota final sea 6.0 o 6.5. Este examen se programará oportunamente y será de toda la materia estudiada en el curso. Si el estudiante aprueba este examen, su nota final será 7.0.
